

Heartbreak à la Mode Detective

Heartbreak à la Mode Detective

Search for the items in bold.

Monica James was hosting a pity party with two dear friends and her cat.
Her boyfriend of two years had called it quits because of a silly spat.
Ice cream was the comfort choice, and Monica stocked her freezer well.
Along with a Bridget Jones movie marathon, she'd make it through this spell.

There were ice cream sandwiches, strawberry ice cream, and a pint of vanilla,
Along with frozen fruit bars and 2 Italian ices to help forget about her fella.
She gave her friends 2 bowls and a parfait glass, but she ate straight from the carton.
Butterscotch sauce and Hershey's syrup toppings helped her mood to hearten.

5 ice cream scoopers, 3 Popsicle sticks, and 6 straws were part of their treasure,
With a knife, a can opener, 4 spoons, and a cutting board thrown in for good measure.
Some root beer in a mug and 2 checkered napkins helped chase away the tears,
While 6 cones, 3 bottles of sprinkles, and a bowl of M&M's added to the cheers.

By the end of the evening, the friends had laughed, cried, and laughed some more.
Like 2 bananas, they'd peeled away the sorrow, and Monica's joy they did restore.
But sadly, after eating everyone's leftover ice cream, the cat didn't fare as well,
Because his gluttony resulted in a sugar-induced coma, and into his bed he fell.